Dear Chuanhui Zheng,

Statement of Allegations

The purpose of this letter is to provide you with formal notice that you are alleged to have breached the UNSW Code of Conduct and Values. This allegation will be addressed in accordance with the Complaints Management and Investigations Policy and Procedure.

It is alleged that you breached Principles 3 and 4 of the UNSW Code of Conduct and Values. Specifically, that student must:

Principle 3:

- conduct themselves honestly and according to University policies and procedures
- ensure that they properly and fairly use copyright material
- conduct themselves in a manner conducive to the proper functioning of the University, recognising that a primary function of the University is the pursuit of academic and research excellence
- display respect by behaving in a manner that will not unreasonably impair the freedom of others to pursue their studies, work and research and to participate in life at the University
- behave ethically and with integrity, avoiding any action or behaviour that would unfairly advantage or disadvantage either themselves or another student
- use artificial intelligence appropriately and acknowledge its use
- accept and follow the instructions required for each individual task or assessment, including guidelines set by the course or program regarding any use of artificial intelligence.

Principle 4:

- use and care for all UNSW and third-party resources in a responsible and appropriate manner, mindful of the need for resources to be shared by all members of the UNSW community
- keep their UNSW student ID (zID) secure and must not disclose their password (zPass) to anyone else
- maintain independence and accurately disclose and manage conflicts of interest
- prevent, detect, report and respond to fraud and corruption risks

- report serious wrongdoing
- maintain the university's positive reputation and good standing
- respect privacy and confidentiality

You can review the full Code of Conduct and Values here.

Details of Allegations

A complaint of serious student misconduct has been received by the conduct and Integrity Office (CIO) from the BABS Student Integrity Adviser, Dr Nirmani Wijenayake Gamachchige, concerning your Assessment 3: Diagnosis Report submitted in GENS1111 Big Fat Myths in Term 2 2024. It is alleged that your Assessment 3 contains a significant amount of plagiarised content, similar to that found in the submissions of three other students in the same course. There are notable similarities between your assignments, including identical errors in the graph summarising blood glucose concentration levels. This suggests that you may have either collaborated with these students or obtained and copied the answer from the same source. Additionally, the edit time for your submission is recorded as zero minutes, indicating that you copied and pasted content directly into your final draft before submission.

Additional concerns about your behaviour were raised after a contract cheating service advertisement (Figure 1) was forwarded to the CIO that showed identifying information linked to your CLIM1001 Quiz 2 results. Though an effort was made to blur this information, you can be identified via the start and completion times, the time taken and the score. You are the only student who received a score of 9.75/10 and completed the quiz on the same day, that is 17 July 2024 and took 2 hours and 8 minutes to complete it. This is not only strong evidence that you shared your UNSW login credentials with a third party, but also engaged in contract cheating.

This led to a subsequent review by the CIO of your Moodle logs. Your Moodle accesses show a pattern of activity consistent with that of having shared your UNSW login credentials with a third party/ies and engaged in contract cheating by submitting work that was not wholly your own in the following courses:

- CLIM1001 Introduction to Climate Change in Term 2 2024
- GENS1111 Big Fat Myths in Term 2 2024
- COMP3311 Database Systems in Term 2 2024

The following concerns have been identified in your Moodle logs:

CLIM1001 Term 2 2024

Quiz 1 - Your Moodle logs show Quiz 1 was attempted while using a Virtual Private Network (VPN) from Sydney, from an ISP provider, Akamai Connected Cloud; however, shortly before you commenced the quiz you were logged into Moodle from a non-VPN IP address from a residential address in Sydney. Your logs show that within two minutes after Quiz 1 was submitted, accesses to Moodle switched back to the same non-VPN IP address. This behaviour is indicative of a third party attempting your quiz on your behalf.

Quiz 2 - Your Moodle logs show Quiz 2 was attempted while using a Virtual Private Network (VPN) from Sydney, from an ISP provider, Akamai Connected Cloud; however, accesses to Moodle before and after the quiz were from a non-VPN IP address from a residential address in Sydney. Additionally, your Quiz 2 details were identifiable in the advertisement for contract cheating services.

Quiz 3 - Your Moodle logs show Quiz 3 was attempted while using a Virtual Private Network (VPN) from Sydney, from an ISP provider, Scalaxy; however, accesses to Moodle before and after the quiz were from a non-VPN IP address from a residential address in Sydney. Your logs show that within seconds of submitting Quiz 3, accesses to Moodle switched back to the same non-VPN IP address. This behaviour is indicative of a third party attempting your quiz on your behalf.

GENS1111 Term 2 2024 and COMP3311 in Term 2 2024

On 12 August 2024, there were concurrent logins to both GENS1111 and COMP3311 from Australia and China from non-VPN addresses. This means that someone in China was logging into your Moodle account at the same time as someone in Australia.

Please note, a non-VPN IP address, also called a “clean IP” address, is an IP address that is not linked to any VPN or proxy services. This type of IP address is directly assigned by an Internet Service Provider (ISP) to a user or device, accurately showing the user's actual geographic location. A clean IP address does not mask or hide the user's true location, so the person who generated the activity was indeed in the location stated in your Moodle logs.

If I find that these alleged breaches are substantiated, I will also consider if the breach constitutes Student Misconduct, in accordance with sections 6.5 and 6.6 of the Procedure.

Please find the following attachments for your reference:

- A comparison of your GENS1111 Assessment 3 answers to that of the 3 other students. You are referred to as Student A.

How to respond

When addressing the concerns raised, it is strongly recommended that your responses & any supporting documentation you submit be:

- Your own: We expect that your response will be submitted by you, in your own words, and if you are receiving assistance from anybody else to respond (including use of generative AI, such as ChatGPT or translation tools), it is important that you inform us of this upfront.
- Clear and Detailed: Ensure that your responses are specific, detailed and unambiguous.
- Verifiable: Any supporting documentation or evidence submitted may be subject to back-to-source checks, and if this isn't possible, it is less likely to be considered compelling.
- Genuine: Your evidence needs to be factual, authentic and unmodified.

This will assist us in making a fair and informed decision, based on comprehensive and reliable information.

If you submit a response that is dishonest, fabricated or misleading, this may have serious consequences.

If you admit the allegations

If you admit the allegations above, I will determine the matter in accordance of s6.5.1 of the Complaints Management and Investigations Policy and Procedure, and determine an outcome which takes into account your admission. You can make an admission at any time during this process.

If there are circumstances (e.g. personal, health, family) that may have influenced your judgment, we want to know about them, as we understand that these can have a severe impact upon you and the decisions you make. Please provide any available evidence for these circumstances, which I will consider.

If you wish to dispute the concerns

If you dispute the concerns raised and there is sufficient evidence to make a determination, I will determine this matter and finalise the outcome in accordance with s6.6 of the Complaints Management and Investigations Policy and Procedure.

If your response does not reasonably address the allegations raised, this matter may proceed to an investigation. If there is no additional provable or relevant evidence likely to be discovered during an investigation, a determination may be made based on available & compelling evidence.

If you do not respond

If you do not respond by the due date, the matter will proceed based on the information currently available.

What penalty are you likely to receive if this matter is substantiated?

The likely penalty for the allegations raised, as indicated by penalties typically imposed for a single instance of misconduct of this nature recorded on the Student Misconduct Register, would range from a 00FL for the course to a suspension from the University.

Please note that these examples are included for guidance only and is not a promise or guarantee of any specific disciplinary outcome that may be applied to you.

This is an opportunity to demonstrate integrity, and should you choose to do this by cooperating with us throughout this process, this may be viewed favourably when considering a penalty, should the allegation be substantiated.

Next steps

You are required to:

1. Acknowledge receipt of this letter and the corresponding attachments.
2. Provide a response to the allegations raised.

Please provide this information by email to studentconduct@unsw.edu.au no later than 9 December 2024. If you require an extension to respond, please contact us. I am also available to meet via phone or via Teams meeting.

Advice and Support

Should you require support, I encourage you to contact any of UNSW's free services:

- The Nucleus Student Hub can assist with all general enquiries regarding your program, progression, and enrolment.
- You can speak with the Student Support Advisors to get information about university life, student visas, wellbeing, academic performance or if you need help but don't know where to go.
- The UNSW Health Service provides confidential in-person and telehealth appointments with doctors.
- UNSW Mental Health Connect supports students 24 hours/day to find the mental health support that suits their individual needs.
- ARC Legal and Advocacy can provide guidance on procedural matters including allegations of misconduct, complaints and appeals.
- The Equitable Learning Service is a free and confidential service that provides practical support to ensure that students' mental or physical health conditions do not adversely affect their studies.

Third Party Assistance

If you're considering engaging an unofficial third party (for example, a service advertised on social media) to respond to these allegations, be aware that using these services often carries significant risks. They may be illegitimate, provide poor and generic advice, and could scam or blackmail you.

Using these services may also lead to additional misconduct allegations being made against you, financial loss, and a negative impact on your case. Instead, we strongly recommend seeking free and independent guidance from ARC Legal and Advocacy. If you're unsure about the trustworthiness of the advice, please ask us for assistance.

Confidentiality

Finally, you are required to maintain confidentiality in this matter. This means that you may not disclose any information about this matter to anyone other than persons providing you with advice or support, who are also bound by confidentiality.

Yours sincerely
